

Women At Risk

The High-Risk Breast Cancer Program at
NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medical Center

Presents:

Understanding your Breast Cancer Risk

SURGICAL RISK REDUCTION STRATEGIES AND STATISTICS ON VARIOUS SURGICAL OPTIONS

Q & A to follow

THURSDAY, JUNE 24th, 2010

6:00pm - 8:00pm

Myra Mahon Patient Resource Center, 2nd Floor

Weill Cornell Medical Center

1305 York Avenue (Corner of East 70th Street)

Light refreshments will be served

SPEAKERS:

Alexander Swistel, MD

Director, Weill Cornell Breast Center

Associate Professor of Surgery

Chief, Breast Service

Director, High-Risk Program

Weill Cornell Breast Center

Tessa Cigler, MD, MPH

Assistant Professor of Medicine

Department of Medical Oncology

Associate Director, High-Risk Program

Weill Cornell Breast Center

Please RSVP by June 18th to Rhonda Theodore at rhm9001@nyp.org or 212.821.0635.

Free Admission

The Women At Risk High-Risk Program is a research, education, and treatment program for women who are at high risk for developing breast cancer.

For more information, visit www.womenatrisknyc.org.